Differentiated Instruction Series: What's Fair? What's Equal?

In this DI class, teachers will examine classroom and grading practices that support differentiation in the K-12 classroom. Teaching, learning, and grading practices that align with the Standards will be presented, and participants will create a do-able, DI action plan that ensures fidelity to teaching standards as well as the intent of Differentiated Instruction as defined by Teacher Keys.

Using the principles in Rick Wormeli's Fair Isn't Always Equal, as well as teacher-crafted, proven grading practices, teachers in this session will take away sound, easy-to-implement assessment and grading practices to uncover and effectively communicate what students know and are able to do.
