Enhancing Vocabulary Using Brain-Based Instruction

Vocabulary instruction, more than any other reading instruction, is universally implemented across all subject-areas and across all grade-levels. However, vocabulary instruction tends to look the same throughout the decades.

Participants will learn a memory-based approach to plan and implement vocabulary instruction (Sprenger, 2017).

The instructor will guide activities relating to the following topics:

- The stages of memory development
- Classroom conditions that promote optimal learning
- Planning vocabulary instruction based on the stages of long-term memory development

Participants will have hands-on opportunities to explore the activities, as well as time to plan for classroom implementation.
