MAKING ELA VISIBLE: BUILDING KNOWLEDGE, VOCABULARY, AND COMPREHENSION THROUGH READ ALOUDS

CLASS DESCRIPTION:

This professional learning course empowers educators to make literacy learning visible through intentional, research-based read alouds that build students' knowledge, vocabulary, comprehension, oral language, and critical thinking. Participants will explore strategies for modeling thinking, developing content knowledge, and engaging students in meaningful discussions about complex texts. Through modeling, collaborative planning, and classroom application, educators will design standards-aligned read aloud lessons using purposeful text selection, think-alouds, vocabulary development, and evidence-based discussion. Participants will leave with practical strategies and planning tools to implement high-impact read alouds that increase engagement, support diverse learners, and strengthen access to grade-level content.
