Online Teaching Endorsement

Winter 2022

Digital Learning opens the world to all students. It eliminates borders, both social and physical, by allowing teachers to design and facilitate instruction that meets individual needs of 21st Century learners.

Griffin RESA's Online Teaching Endorsement will engage candidates in identifying the components of quality online teaching and learning. They will learn how to implement various technology proficiencies such as means of communication and productivity, collaboration, analysis, presentation, research, assessment, and content delivery. This Endorsement is completely virtual.

In the first course, participants will develop activities and exercises appropriate for online teaching and learning in their grade band (elementary, middle, high) through class investigations, online discussions, and coursework. The second and third courses run concurrently at the conclusion of Course 1 and will provide candidates with a practicum/internship experience that utilizes the content knowledge and pedagogical skills of the endorsement.
