Restore & Inspire for School Leaders: School Climate Temperature Check

K-12 Teacher Leaders, Counselors, and Administrators set the tone for a school's culture by daily interactions with students, teachers, and families. School climate work: social-emotional learning, positive behavior supports, youth voice, leadership programs, and restorative practices are a part of making a school feel safe and welcoming.

With the uncertainties of Covid-19 and conversations and protests of racial inequality, including an added challenge of educating children in the remote and hybrid classroom environments, school climate is more critical than ever.

This course will deliver engagement strategies for leaders to take a temperature check of their students, faculty & staff, school, surrounding community, and families to foster essential connections with the goal of delivering quality instruction and education through unprecedented and challenging times.
