

Servicing the Whole Child:

Improving School and Community Partnerships

Can your school use an overhaul to serve the students and the community they live in while giving them a quality education since the response to Covid-19 has been a continuous global health crisis? Servicing the whole child in school includes a focus on teaching and learning, deep family engagement, health and social service supports, and continuous improvement.

This course will give educators tools to develop realistic processes in their local school building to overcome the fundamental issues of poverty, family changes, inequities, transiency, health, trauma, and much more. Get equipped to restore commitment to educational equity and the whole child – where all children learn to thrive through:

- Collaborative teaching & learning,
- Gathering student voice,
- Coordinating comprehensive community services,
- Partnering with families, and
- Fostering hope.
