Strategies for Teaching Students with Low Incidence Disabilities

Low incidence refers to disability areas that occur rarely or in low numbers. This generally means that staff with highly specialized skills and knowledge are needed to teach this student population. It may seem overwhelming to be faced with designing instruction, physical structure, behavioral expectations, communication, and social exchanges for a student with multiple and/or significant disabilities. This session will provide participants with strategies for teaching the student with low-incidence disabilities.

This professional development opportunity is provided by a grant for our regional school systems. Therefore, it is Open only to educators in the Griffin RESA region: (Butts, Fayette, Henry, Lamar, Pike, Newton, Griffin-Spalding, and Thomaston-Upson School Systems).
