Teacher Led Small Group Instruction 3rd-8th

Do you desire to be more efficient and effective during your small group time? Flexible grouping using data is a powerful instructional method to group students. Based on where they are, you can choose instruction using phonics, strategy groups, guided reading, or guided writing. When done well, it enables you to meet the individual and diverse needs of your students and instills a strong foundation for reading success. In this course, you will gain confidence and clarity on how to empower even your most struggling readers to succeed through evidence-based reading practices. You will learn how to group students via assessments and needs, choose appropriate texts, be provided with lesson plan templates that walk you through the key components and teaching steps, know how to determine what to teach and when, understand how to manage student data and resources, and keep the rest of the class in meaningful learning activities.

Class focus: Integrating advanced phonics and language skills within teacher-led small group instruction, using current and newly proposed standards.

The instructor will share strategies and resources that will support TKES Standards 1,3,7, and 8 with practical takeaways that will positively impact teacher practice and student achievement.
