Teaching Reading? Start here!

All the best things in life start with a strong foundation. A house needs concrete slabs, a garden needs rich soil, and a successful reader needs the five pillars. The fundamental building blocks of reading, as defined by the National Reading Panel, include phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension. Together, these five pillars make up the components of effective reading instruction. Structuring a research-based literacy block is the first step to laying a solid foundation for students' literacy skills.

During this two-day course, educators will learn the essential elements of each of the five pillars and how to structure the literacy block to ensure that all students master this vital foundation.
