

Unlocking Their Voices: Guiding Young Learners from Conversations to Writing Complete Sentences

WHEN

February 25, 2026
8:30 am – 3:30 pm

Registration Deadline: February 18, 2026

CLASS DESCRIPTION

Do you ever feel torn between respecting developmental limits and holding high expectations? This dynamic, two-part workshop is your answer! We'll explore two of the most important and interconnected skills for early success—oral language development and early writing development—giving you the clarity and tools to confidently move every student forward. You'll leave with a cohesive, evidence-based roadmap for nurturing communication and seeing that growth translate directly into literacy success. Join us to transform your approach to professional learning and empower your colleagues to thrive in their teaching practice!
